ADL Leads Civil Rights Mission to the American South

This February, the ADL Mountain States Region was host to 44 board members and supporters that journeyed to the American South on a Civil Rights Mission to historical sites in Georgia and Alabama. Beginning in Atlanta and continuing on to Montgomery, Selma and Birmingham, the group visited several locations to learn more about slavery, the civil rights movement and current activism aimed at supporting the African-American community, combating voter suppression and more. (Read more in the Message from the Chair and Director on p. 5.)

Stops included Ebenezer Baptist Church, the National Civil and Human Rights Museum and Fair Fight 2020 in Atlanta; the Rosa Parks Museum, the Equal Justice Initiative Legacy Museum and the National Memorial for Peace and Justice (the Lynching Memorial) in Montgomery; the Edmund Pettus Bridge in Selma; and the 16th Street Baptist Church and the Birmingham Civil Rights Institute in Birmingham. Participants also met with civil rights leaders Joanne Bland, who was 11 years old during the 1965 march from Selma to Montgomery, and Bishop Calvin Woods, who was the last person to see Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. alive in Montgomery the night before his murder.

Former ADL Regional Director and Honorary Regional Board Member Sheldon "Shelly" Steinhauser joined the trip as scholar-in-residence. Steinhauser spoke with the group about his experiences marching with Dr. King into Montgomery 55 years ago alongside a delegation of 100 Colorado community members that had flown to Alabama to participate in the last several miles of the march. Rabbi Steven Foster, Rabbi Emeritus of Temple Emanuel, also spoke about his experiences in the same march when he was a college student. Continued on page 2

POSTPONED

With the continued spread of COVID-19, evolving guidelines for large community gatherings and out of respect for our community's health and safety, ADL has made the difficult decision to postpone the 39th Annual Governor's Holocaust Remembrance Program (originally scheduled for Thursday, April 23) and to cancel the No Place for Hate® Celebration Breakfast (originally scheduled for Friday, May 1). We appreciate your understanding in this unique time and look forward to updating you with further details in the coming months.

Although we will not be together in person, look for some exciting announcements and information on our website in the coming weeks. We look forward to sharing the winning essays from ADL's A Tribute to Moral Courage Student Essay Contest, the winning artwork from the No Place for Hate Student Art Contest and a special video message from several of our treasured Colorado Holocaust Survivors on our website: <https://mountainstates.adl.org>.

In reflecting on that time, Steinhäuser said: "When we arrived at the encampment, we went to shake Dr. King's hand and to thank him profusely for his courage and moral leadership. And in a quiet, humble voice, he thanked us for the support we and so many others were providing to the African American community."

Steinhäuser further explained, "After almost no sleep, we joined the other marchers. We passed by homes of African Americans, men, women and children, who came out to bring us water and food because they knew then what we found out after – that all the water spigots in downtown Montgomery near our route had been turned off to deny us water."

Steinhäuser concluded with a reflection of his time in the presence of Dr. King and Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel: "We stood together at the State Capitol, black and white, Christians and many, many Jews – including Dr. King's close friend, Rabbi Abraham Joshua Heschel – who joined us and walked arm in arm with Dr. King. And we stood and listened to Dr. King's powerful and eloquent remarks, even as we were silently stared at by dozens of locals from the balconies of office buildings surrounding the Capitol square, men and women with some of the most hateful stares I had ever witnessed. After the march, Rabbi Heschel said the feeling was so powerful he felt like he was praying with his feet." ●

ADL sends NM, CO law enforcement officials to counterterrorism training

ADL sent two senior law enforcement officials from the Mountain States Region to ADL's Advanced Training School in December 2019. The officers represented the Albuquerque Police Department and the FBI's Denver Field Office. The three-day course provides law enforcement leaders with state-of-the-art information and instruction on the full spectrum of domestic and international terrorist threats, tactics and movements. More than 1,200 of the nation's top law enforcement leaders, representing over 250 agencies, have graduated from the course. ●

Colorado Legislature

ADL supports bills advancing Holocaust education, fair treatment

This Spring, the ADL Mountain States Region has actively supported bills that enhance anti-discrimination laws in Colorado, opposed bills that sought to curtail Coloradans' civil rights and is working to introduce Holocaust and Genocide studies in public schools throughout the state.

ADL has worked with an extensive network of coalition partners, including the Jewish Community Relations Council, to introduce House bill 1336 – Holocaust and Genocide Studies in Public Schools. The bill will promote Holocaust and genocide education and awareness in Colorado schools, and comes at a critical time as fewer Holocaust survivors are able to share their first-person accounts and as Americans' knowledge of the Holocaust decreases.

ADL also worked with coalition partners to support the Colorado CROWN Act, which was recently signed into law. The measure prohibits discrimination in education, employment and public accommodations based on an individual's hairstyle, including styles often associated with an individual's race.

ADL has also:

- supported a bill that provides critical protection from civil arrest for individuals accessing Colorado's judicial system
- opposed a slate of six anti-LGBTQ bills introduced in the Colorado legislature, and
- opposed several bills that would have prohibited abortion in Colorado and severely restricted women's access to comprehensive reproductive health care.

The ADL Mountain States Region also monitors legislation in New Mexico and Wyoming and mobilizes on key bills. The New Mexico legislative session ended on Feb. 20 and Wyoming's budget session ended on March 6.

Civil Rights Awards Reception

ADL Honored Rocky Mountain Immigrant Advocacy Network (RMIAN) and Emma Shinn, Esq.

On February 12, the ADL Mountain States Region honored Rocky Mountain Immigrant Advocacy Network (RMIAN) and Emma Shinn, Esq., Co-Founder and past Executive Director of the Colorado Name Change Project, at its Civil Rights Awards Reception. About 200 community members, elected officials and other supporters joined the gathering held at Chambers Grant Salon at the Ellie Caulkins Opera House. ADL also recognized the winners of its Summer Associate Research Program Memo Competition: Jordan Cohen and David Willner (Brownstein Hyatt Farber Schreck) and Alexandra Haggarty (Otten Johnson Robinson Neff + Ragonetti PC).

RMIAN exists to promote a more humane immigration system and believes all people should be afforded due process and an understanding of their legal rights. RMIAN provides free legal representation in immigration proceedings, promotes knowledge of legal rights, and works to improve detention conditions, including promoting alternatives to detention. Executive Director Mekela Goehring, Esq. accepted the award on behalf of the organization.

Emma Shinn is an attorney, U.S Marine officer and prior enlisted infantry platoon sergeant. She is a zealous advocate for defending the Constitution and civil liberties. Shinn, who recently returned to active duty in the Marine Corps as a judge advocate, is Co-Founder and past Executive Director of the Colorado Name Change Project, a nonprofit helping transgender Colorado residents legally change their name and gender marker on state and federal identity documents. ●

ADL Advocacy and Programs in New Mexico

Busy time of programs and engagement with the New Mexico community

ADL was pleased to present “ADL in ABQ: An Evening with Kenneth Jacobson, ADL Deputy National Director” at the Albuquerque JCC in December. Jacobson, ADL’s longest-serving employee, spoke with community members about rising antisemitism in the United States and around the world, discussing many of the root causes of antisemitism and what ADL is doing to respond to it.

ADL continues to work on other initiatives to counter antisemitism and hate in New Mexico, including supporting targets of bias-motivated incidents. ADL has also empowered students at synagogues, youth groups, camps and conferences to confront antisemitism and anti-Israel activities through its Words to Action program. During the current school year, New Mexico had its first school – Mandela International Magnet School – enroll in No Place for Hate, ADL’s anti-bias and anti-bullying initiative to improve the culture and climate of a school. Additionally, ADL provided expertise to Governor Michelle Lujan Grisham’s domestic terrorism summit.

ADL was also pleased to have a Commander in the Albuquerque Police Department selected in December to participate in its Advanced Training School, ADL’s flagship program for law enforcement leaders from across the country. The three-day course provides state-of-the-art information and instruction on the full spectrum of domestic and international terrorist threats, tactics and movements. More than 1,200 of the nation’s top law enforcement leaders,

As always, ADL continues to support individuals in New Mexico and throughout the region who are experiencing discrimination. Contact the ADL Mountain States Office at mountainstates@adl.org or call us at 303-830-7177. To report an incident, contact your member of Congress about ADL’s priority policy issues and more, please visit www.adl.org/take-action.

ADL continues to work on initiatives to counter antisemitism and hate in the New Mexico community.

Message from the Chair and the Director

Hate in the age of polarization:
Lessons from the past

Today, there is little agreement on issues from immigration to healthcare to the environment. Such divisiveness is never good for those that are identified as the “other.”

We recently had the privilege of leading a civil rights journey to Atlanta, Selma, Montgomery and Birmingham (see page 1). The trip revealed lessons from the civil rights era that would serve us well if put in practice today. During the incredibly divisive civil rights era, we learned that progress was made by insistence, perseverance and alliance.

African Americans insisted, as Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. put it, on fulfillment of the sacred obligations given by the “promissory note” that was the Declaration of Independence and Constitution, rather than the “bad check” they had been given and returned marked “insufficient funds.” The rights that were obtained did not come overnight. Jim Crow laws that enforced racial segregation were enacted in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. With great perseverance, they were finally overturned in 1965.

Much of what was accomplished was done in alliance with others. Whether it was the Freedom Riders in 1961, those that registered voters during the Freedom Summer of 1964, or those that answered Dr. King’s call to join the marchers from Selma to Montgomery in 1965, a rainbow of people came together as allies to fight for civil rights. A special treat for those on our trip was the opportunity to walk over the Edmund Pettus Bridge with our Scholar-in-Residence Shelly Steinhauser and Rabbi Steven Foster, both of whom answered Dr. King’s call in 1965.

To overcome today’s divisiveness, we must spread Dr. King’s message written from his Birmingham jail cell in 1963: “Injustice anywhere is a threat to justice everywhere. . . . Whatever affects one directly, affects all indirectly.”

Through our insistence, perseverance and alliance, we can improve civil rights not only for ourselves, but for all. ●

Meet ADL’s 2019-2020 Student Art Contest Winners

Through art, students find common ground, take action against hate and find strength in diversity

ADL congratulates the winners of its No Place for Hate® Student Art Contest. The visual arts contest was open to K-12 students in participating No Place for Hate schools throughout the Mountain States Region. The contest provided an opportunity for students at all grade levels to submit original artwork to convey their vision of a world without prejudice through art that answered the theme “WHAT DOES IT LOOK LIKE WHEN... We Build Community? We Find Common Ground? Diversity is a Strength? We Take Action Against Hate? We Are Different, Together?”

Over 175 pieces of art were submitted from 15 schools. Eight judges from ADL’s Education Committee had the challenging task of considering each piece of artwork based on its originality, creativity, universality and impact. The winning artwork will be available to view on ADL’s website, mountainstates.adl.org, and in the 2021 Positive Impact Calendar. ●

Words to Action Empowers Students to Stand Up to Antisemitism

New materials train students to combat racism and hatred

With antisemitism and anti-Israel bias at their highest levels in recent memory, ADL is responding by equipping students with constructive and effective tools to stand up to these challenges in high schools, on college campuses, at summer camps and more with its signature Words to Action program. The ADL Mountain States Region is also a pilot site for new lessons that will train Jewish and non-Jewish students to stand up to racism and bias as they learn how to respond to antisemitism.

Thanks to generous grants from Rose Community Foundation and Jewish National Fund, ADL is on track to reach 1,000 students in Colorado, New Mexico and Wyoming during the 2019-2020 academic year. To learn more about Words to Action, to schedule a training or to offer financial support for the program, please contact ADL Senior Associate Director Sue Parker Gerson at mountainstates@adl.org or 303-830-7177. ●
